For fans of our outstanding gaming products, here is a special treat from Sharkoon: With the SGB30, we are introducing a bundle consisting of our SKILLER SGM2 and our SKILLER SGK30. While the SGM2 catches the eye with its ergonomic shape and classic design, the SGK30 will impress its users with a high degree of quality, a corresponding durability and a pleasant RGB illumination. Together, they form an unbeatable team in any game.

Dynamic Illumination

Both devices have controllable lighting effects, whereby the gaming mouse dispenses with a separate software for the settings. Instead, the illumination can be switched between six effects, or completely deactivated, via a button on the underside of the mouse.

The keyboard illumination, on the other hand, can be customized with a variety of different effects. The software for this offers 18 different modes, which can also be modified for brightness, frequency and color.

Fully Equipped for Every Game

With the SKILLER SGK30, macros with a combined total of 391 entries can be created and edited. In addition, the software can be used to create up to twenty personal profiles for key assignments, illumination settings and the deployment of chosen macros.

The SKILLER SGM2, on the other hand, will appeal with its polling rate of 1,000 hertz as well as its optical sensor with up to 6,400 DPI, making it perfect for any gaming situation.

Made for Speed

With an operating force between 45 and 50 grams and a distance of two millimeters to the actuation point, nothing stands in the way of speedy work and fast gaming.

Meanwhile, the SGM2 is an especially fast mover: With up to 66 inches per second and 6,000 frames per second, it can move as speedily as possible across the screen, never to be defeated in any game.

For Long-Lasting Use

The user will be able to enjoy the SKILLER SGK30 for a long time thanks to high-quality, mechanical linear switches that have a life cycle of at least 50 million keystrokes and a two-meter cable that is textile braided.

The SKILLER SGM2 scores points with a long service life too, since at least five million clicks can be performed with the mouse.

Compact Format

As a keyboard with a 3-block layout and a length of 440 mm as well as a width of 144 mm, the SKILLER SGK30 presents itself with a generously spacious format. Thanks to its comfortable height of 35 mm, it is also very pleasant to write with.

The SGM2, on the other hand, impresses with its ergonomic shape, which makes it easy to hold for right-handers, while the thumb buttons support a quick and easy navigation.
