

SKILLER SGM1

With its high-performance optical sensor and a total of twelve programmable buttons, the SKILLER SGM1 optical gaming mouse is made for situations where speedy reaction is needed for quick moves and various maneuvers. With its elegant design and unpretentious RGB illumination, the mouse will also appeal to those who need it for work, especially where its wide-ranging programmability can be appreciated. The ergonomic shape, the weight tuning system and the software make this a comfortable and versatile mouse for all occasions.

Features

PRECISION COUNTS

The optical PixArt PMW3336 sensor of the SKILLER SGM1 is fully designed for convincing gaming performance. Every click will count even on difficult terrain thanks to the maximum 10,800 DPI.

MADE FOR COMPLEX COMMANDS

Through the software, each of the twelve buttons of the SKILLER SGM1 can be reassigned either with a freely programmable macro or with a new command. The software contains a comprehensive menu of set commands for button assignment.

LOW-KEY RGB ILLUMINATION

The illumination of the scroll wheel and the SKILLER logo set a subtle highlight which can be modified as desired from within the entire RGB spectrum.

ADJUSTABLE HANDLING

The shape of the SKILLER SGM1 is suitable for right-handers and gamers who prefer the palm grip. For optimum handling, the SKILLER SGM1 is equipped with a pull-out weight tuning system with six four-gram weights.

EXTENSIVE FUNCTIONALITY

The downloadable software for the SKILLER SGM1 offers a variety of adjustments and settings: for the RGB illumination, the polling rate, speeds for double-click and scrolling, angle snapping and the axis sensitivity. The software also includes the recording and assigning of macros.
